- Identifying strategies to maintain professional boundaries for self, colleagues, organisation.

Workshop content : During this two day workshop the facilitator will discuss and explore with you the “foundation stones” of professional boundaries. Using a number of actual case scenarios participants will experience the complexities of professional boundaries whilst appreciating the ease with which transgressions occur. Through exploring the professional boundary framework you will be able to experience the continuum of over and under involvement. The workshop provides a discussion and experiential space in which you can identify and practice a range of strategies to assist you develop and maintain boundaries in your professional role. This workshop is open to participants who work in people related services including: health, education, NDIS, police, council, and NGO organisations.

Facilitator: Dr Wendy H McIntosh PhD (RGN, Grad. Dip. MH., MN, Group Leadership Cert, Cert IV Workplace Assessment & Training).

Wendy conducts training on a number of themes including boundaries, mental illness in the workplace, and working with clients who have experienced childhood trauma. Wendy regularly presents at state, local and international conferences and has a number of publications.

With an extensive history of working in mental health (clinical, research & education), Wendy conducts regular individual and group supervision and is past President of the Australian, Aotearoa New Zealand Psychodrama Association, Qld Region.

Professional Boundaries with Clients, with Colleagues

Professional Boundaries require us to hold a line in every situation, calling on us to be present & creative in each circumstance. It is paramount for staff working in people-related industries to appreciate and understand the complexities of safe professional boundaries. We'll explore various themes which help to deepen knowledge and skills in working safely, and with care.

Themes explored during this workshop include:

- Client - staff and collegial relationships
- Dual relationships and other complexities
- Roles we play
- Reasons that transgressions occur.

Using a professional boundary framework the facilitator will explore boundary crossings and violations in the continuum of over- and under- involvement. Psychodrama will be used to deepen participants experiential learning, helping them gain awareness and insight and to also accelerate the rate of integration of the material.

Comments from prior participants:

⊞ “I just wanted to say thank you for running this course, it was absolutely fabulous. I've been in my profession for 26 years and it's such a pleasure to engage with something a little bit different. I recognise that Wendy's style of teaching and engaging is also a little bit different but I found it fresh, challenging and have taken things away with me. It was worth every penny. Thank you also for the links to webinars which I will be taking a look at - I'm hooked!

I'm so glad I said yes to this course and I will be looking with interest at future CPD with yourselves.”

⊞ “The workshop was very interesting and provided insight towards problem solving and contingencies to consider in respect of boundaries and professional practices. Overall the workshop was very well facilitated to maximise participation by attendees to actually address personal experiences and to better understand the necessity and concept of professional boundaries”.

⊞ “Brace yourself – you'll uncover things about yourself, your role and how you feel in the best possible way”.
